ASK JEANNE

Dear Jeanne, Is there anything that downgrades a cute holiday party look more than a too-casual coat? What should I look for when buying evening outerwear, and where can I find an inexpensive option? —Margaux

DEAR MARGAUX: Your particular fashion dilemma is making me smile. With the holidays just around the corner, visions of beautifully wrapped presents spring to mind. So imagine yourself and your fabulous party dress as the big surprise, or "present." Of course you want to wrap it up beautifully in a great little cocktail coat, a dressy faux fur jacket or even a dramatic but cozy cape. The options abound. It all depends on what speaks to you and how practical you want to be. While fancy evening coats aren't usually all that warm, I do suggest going for something that isn't too flimsy. If you want to glam up a simple tailored winter overcoat, why not try a fur or faux fur collar? [Editor's note: see Page 5 for inspiration.] Many are sold separately. You can also pump up the glam quotient of a simple coat or jacket with a fantastic large brooch. Vintage shops are full of them, and they're great conversation pieces as well. If you're shopping for an overcoat especially for dress-up purposes, you'll likely want to stick to a neutral colour, like black or navy, so it won't conflict too much with what's underneath. Though interesting fabrics are always appealing, I'd stay away from tweeds, as the look is a little too casual and may not blend with the party look you've chosen. I do adore capes for the evening. I have a black heavy wool Michael Kors one that's been a godsend. There's also a fab faux Persian lamb cape in my Edit line at Hudson's Bay that is very chic. While it looks great with jeans or skinny pants, it's also smashing over a little black dress or teamed with a leather or satin pencil skirt. If you're looking for a high-quality dressy coat at a good price, you might try a consignment store. They often have wonderful designer fare at accessible prices, usually just gently worn. Have fun "wrapping yourself up"! When it comes to high style, it's all in the presentation.

LADY GAGA

Gaga goes galactic

The fearless monster leader herself is heading to outer space. In early 2015, Lady Gaga is set to rocket up into space on a Virgin Galactic ship to perform a single song. To prepare her vocal cords for the atmospheric change, she'll be training for months before she boldly sings where no pop star has sung before—after taking out an astronomical life insurance policy, of course. —Tarah Kennedy

ALEXA CHUNG

Alexa Chung's eye

Following the launch of her book It, Alexa Chung has put the pen down and picked up the makeup brush instead. She's teamed up with British cosmetic company Eyeko to create a limited-edition gift set ($30) that includes a liquid liner to give you that cat-eye look Chung's best known for. There's also the aptly named Eye Do waterproof mascara and a guitar-pick-shaped tool to prevent pesky smudging. Available on eyeko.com in November and in Sephora stores January 2014. —T.K.

TIP

Forget the belt! Pair a fitted top with a high-waisted pleated skirt to create curves and flatter your waist.

why we love it

ALREADY ADORNED

The embellished neckline acts as built-in bling, so Bell can skip additional jewellery.

TOP THAT

A simple fitted top helps to balance out the fullness and bold print of the skirt.

COOL HUE

A cobalt clutch adds an electric punch to the overall outfit and teams well with the midnight blue of the skirt.

TAKE THE STAGE

Creating a striking focal point, the graphic print and exaggerated pleats add modern edge to a ladylike silhouette, and the knee-length hemline flatters Bell's petite frame.

STRAIGHT TO THE POINT

Working double duty, single-sole pointed pumps top off the look with a chic finish while elongating the leg.

Why the new corps of ornate nail stickers inspired by runway gowns has changed the way we look at our fingers

—DEBORAH FULSANG

We've fallen hard for stick-on nails, nail-polish strips and appliques. After all, you can apply them in the parking lot before work, the ample patterns suit every mood and, most importantly, you can create ornate looks without investing serious time or money.

Kicking the trend into couture territory is a limited-edition collection from Revlon and Marchesa. The eight elaborate 3-D nail stickers are each inspired by a different Marchesa dress.

"We wanted to bring the embroidery and embellishments that we have on our gowns to our nails," says Georgina Chapman, who designs the New York-based label alongside Keren Craig. "We chose particular dresses and used them as reference for the nail art."

There's something practical about choosing stick-ons over polish—even when the finish is animal prints, plaid or a studded snowflake. Those who can't wait for their nails to dry ("I am terrible for smudging my nails," Chapman admits) or chip them often will find it easier than ever to skip the salon and apply a new pattern themselves. And now, for $9, you can own a little piece of Marchesa.

We preview the Marchesa stick-on offerings and share favourite new styles from other key contenders.

SILVER BELLE

Give your eyes an ethereal look à la Dior Fall 2014. The result: part Anna Karenina, part futuristic ice princess and totally unexpected

Get the look

1. Apply silver liner to the outer eye in a wing shape. "We're lightening areas we'd normally darken," says makeup artist Vittorio Masecchia.
2. Line the crease of the eyelid above the inner corner of the eye, and under the outer third of the lower lash line.
3. Apply warm cream shadow to the lid; it keeps the silver from looking cold.

BOOT CAMP

From slouchy to sleek, here's all you need to know about fall's best boots and the perfect hemlines to wear them with. Read on to rock them right

BY VANESSA TAYLOR. PHOTOGRAPHY BY MAY TRUONG

The ankle boot

Short, cropped booties shout accidentally cool. They're casual enough for the weekend, amp up a work wardrobe and give classic pieces like pencil skirts, blouses and blazers a fresh update. That's what we call bootylicious. (Sorry—we couldn't resist.)

RIGHT: STUART WEITZMAN BOOTS, $535, STUARTWEITZMAN.CA. MILLY BAG, $300, MILLYNY.COM. ROOTS JACKET, $488, ROOTS.CA. H&M SKIRT, $30, HM.COM/CA

THE HEMLINE

Short ankle boots look best with skirts that hit the knee—or maxi length.

THE FIT

A slightly wider opening around the ankle of a cropped boot is key to creating a flattering leg line.

THE FIT

For a tailored look, avoid boots that are baggy or dig into the thigh. Many styles feature an elastic inset for a comfy yet snug fit.

The over-the-knee boot

Wildly popular on the runways, our favourite thigh-high boots are the second-skin styles in suede and leather with a flat or short stacked heel. Wear them with cozy knit dresses, floral skirts and woolly sweaters to balance their over-the-top sex appeal.

THE HEMLINE

Wear with skirts and dresses that hit the top of your boots when standing. If that's a miniskirt, make it a full, pleated style to balance the look.

The big slouch

Slouchy boots are the most flattering mid-calf style: extra width on the boot won't interrupt the long, lean line of the legs, meaning they carry flirty detailing like tassels perfectly.

ISABEL MARANT FOR H&M BOOTS, $299, HM.COM/CA. OLD NAVY SWEATER, $33, OLDNAVY.CA. DIESEL W-MARGE JACKET, $550, DIESEL.CA. EXPRESS SKIRT, $60, AT EXPRESS

THE FIT

Since these boots have a looser fit, go shorter if you're petite and mid-calf if you're tall.

THE HEMLINE

This relaxed look pairs well with dresses or skirts. Stay away from mid-length skirts—the hemline will be too close to the boot, making your legs look shorter.

The chelsea boot

This short, flat boot is exceptionally comfortable. A huge hit with celebs, it's come a long way from its horse-riding beginnings.

ECCO BOOTS, $245, ECCO.COM. LINE KNITWEAR SWEATER, $499, AT HOLT RENFREW. GAP SWEATSHIRT, $55, GAPCANADA.CA. TIMEX WATCH, $75, TIMEX.CA. FIDELITY PANTS, $188, SHOPFIDELITYDENIM.COM. 3.1 PHILLIP LIM DRAWSTRING BAG, $815, AT HOLT RENFREW

THE HEMLINE

Stick to drainpipe skinny pants that reach the top of the boot; if they're longer, tuck them in or cuff them.

THE FIT

These are easy to slip on, thanks to the elastic panel, so you don't need to go up a size to accommodate woolly winter socks.

TOP TIGHTS

Too cold for bare legs? Fear not! Read on for our picks of cozy and cute hosiery

OPAQUE

"I love the Merona opaque black tights from Target. In the winter I pair them with my summer and fall skirts, and they work perfectly with boots. They are opaque enough to wear with sheer skirts, really complement the shape of your legs and last longer than other brands."

—Jessica Hotson, art director
MERONA OPAQUE BLACK TIGHTS, $10, TARGET.COM

CABLE KNIT

"The super-soft knit of these viscose-blend H&M tights makes them easy to slip on sans struggle, which is important because the last thing I want to do in the morning, while still half asleep, is fight with my hosiery!"

—Emma Yardley, online editor
H&M CABLE-KNIT TIGHTS, $18

SHEER PANTYHOSE

"I love these tights for special occasions when I want the look of bare legs. Bonus: they increase leg circulation and have built-in tummy and butt-control panties, which gives you great shape."

—Kristy Wright, assistant art director
SPANX ALL THE WAY, LEG SUPPORT PANTYHOSE IN SHEER NUDE, $28, SPANX.COM

COLOURED TIGHTS

"Deep coloured tights with a neutral outfit make more of a style statement and update my wardrobe, while staying warm and on budget."

—Amber Hickson, designer
JOE FRESH TIGHTS IN BURGUNDY, NAVY OR CAMEL, $6, JOEFRESH.COM

PATTERNED TIGHTS

"I love the elongating effect of sheer tights but I find they can be a bit boring. These gigantic polka dot tights give the '90s pink-and-white version a modern upgrade and will give a simple skirt sophisticated flair."

—Colleen Henman, assistant art director
KATE SPADE GIANT POLKA-DOT TIGHTS, $24, KATESPADE.COM

PARTY TIGHTS

"I love fancy tights because they remind me of going to birthday parties as a child. This pair from Mondor is especially cool because they are fishnets, which are almost impossible to rip, but with lace embellishment at the back. Très chic!"

—Alex Laws, senior editor
MONDOR FISHNET TIGHTS WITH FLORAL MOTIF, $19, MONDOR.COM

THE HEMLINE ....
Give ankle boots some breathing room. Show a little leg by cuffing your jeans or wearing a cropped, slim trouser.

..... THE FIT
Pay attention to where boots hit your ankle. Shorter booties are most flattering. Avoid any that cut into your calves.

The embellished bootie

Sexy like stilettos but with more coverage, these are appropriate for a diner brunch or the dance floor. With buckles, lace and cutaway details, they make any outfit hot to trot.

CLOSET OF THE WEEK

Anita Patrickson

STYLIST, LOS ANGELES

BY THE COVETEUR

Originally from South Africa, Anita Patrickson was raised in London before crossing the pond to Los Angeles. After putting in time at Allure as assistant West Coast editor, working with celebrities like Britney and J. Lo, Patrickson struck out on her own as a freelance stylist. Patrickson continues to work with stars (now it's everyone from Emma Watson to Nina Dobrev), and while she may have left behind her editorial days, there are parts she just can't shake—like her immaculately colour-coded closet.
