ASK JEANNE

Dear Jeanne,

I'm undertaking a minor holiday miracle this month: attending multiple cocktail parties on a single night. Do you have advice for how I can keep my makeup looking fresh, prevent my shoes from killing me and bring hostess gifts, too? —Francine

DEAR FRANCINE:

Amazingly enough, this is one miracle that many of us manage to perform each holiday season. And though the challenge always seems daunting at first, once you get the hang of it, party hopping can be a fun and lively pastime.

First, you must wear something relatively comfortable. Of course, you'll want to be in party mode in the wardrobe department, but make sure your outfit is one that you feel good in, and feels good "on." While many of our evening shoes are not exactly comfy, try to go for the ones that aren't as brutal. You might want to try taking a pair of those handy little roll-up ballet slippers with you, just to give those tender tootsies a rest.

Also, it's important to give yourself a little touch-up between appearances, so make sure your evening purse has a wee mirror and a couple of makeup remover pads. No one wants to see Rocky Raccoon at their door! There are various light face oils you might want to bring with you as well, to dab ever so lightly over your makeup to alleviate any dryness. Rodin, carried at Gee Beauty, is a great one. A fresh hit of lipstick is always a must, as well as freshening my tresses with a small pocket comb.

As far as hostess gifts go, you don't want to look like Mrs. Claus lugging a sack of gifts around. What about gift certificates? Not only are they always welcome, but they're easy to transport! Ditto for holiday music CDs. They always make great gifts this time of year, from Barbra Streisand and Kelly Clarkson to Neil Diamond and Frank Sinatra. What about giving precious little ornaments, or finding some lovely little vintage brooches-maybe some whimsical old Christmas pins?

Another lovely gesture is to have flowers elivered to your hostess's home the day of the party. That way, you'll be giving something that will not only enhance the party decor, but help make your presence felt long after you leave!

It's also lovely to send flowers the next day, thanking your hostess for the enjoyable evening and sending warm wishes for the holiday ahead.

Staying power of #selfie

Pout your lips, widen your eyes and tilt your heads; selfies are here to stay. The term has been annointed as the Oxford Dictionaries Word of the Year 2013 (other contenders: twerk and binge-watch). Over 57 million personal portraits have been hashtagged #selfie since the launch of Instagram in 2010—including from celebrities Justin Bieber, Alexa Chung and even Oprah. -Tarah Kennedy

The style news that got us talking this week

Westwood in writing

We adored Grace Coddington's autobiography; we expect we'll feel the same about this redhead's book, too. Known for taking the punk movement to the masses, designer Vivienne Westwood is poised to share her life's story in a memoir. Westwood will write the book with her friend, the biographer Ian Kelly. It will feature contributions from her inner circle and will be published in October 2014. -T.K.

Republic of Scott

After styling most of Hollywood, L'Wren Scott (a.k.a. Mick Jagger's girlfriend) launched her label in 2006, focusing on timeless, feminine designs. Musical model

Cara Delevingne, the goofy-face-making model of the moment, keeps surprising us. In 2012, she appeared alongside Keira Knightley in Anna Karenina and acted in a few short indie films. Now, according to Twitter, she's been spending time in a recording studio. Delevingne has already performed in videos for LOVE magazine, and we're keen to learn if she sounds as good as she looks. -T.K.

Kabuki brush: Ka·bu·ki, noun \ka-'b\"-k\"e, 'k\"-b\"-(,)\k\"e\ \'brash\"

DEFINITION: A brush with short, dense bristles and a short handle. It's named after the brush Japanese theatre performers used to apply white makeup.

thekit.ca/facepowders/

HOW IT WORKS: The dense bristles always pick up the perfect amount of product, says Maxime Poulin, international makeup artist with Guerlain. It also blends superbly. "If you're after the season's flawless, Hitchcockian look, this brush is for you."

"THE RIGHT TOOLS ARE JUST AS IMPORTANT AS THE MAKEUP ITSELF."

—Bobbi Brown

HOW TO USE A FOUNDATION BRUSH

A foundation brush boosts your chances of pro results, says Miyako Okamoto, Shiseido international makeup artist. She shares her application tips

1. Dot a dime-sized amount of liquid or cream foundation onto your forehead, cheeks and chin with fingertips. "You don't need it everywhere!" says Okamoto. Focus on areas where there is redness, blemishes or discoloration.

2. For trouble spots where you need fuller coverage, place your brush perpendicular to your face and dab or pat foundation gently.

3. A foundation brush can access hard-to-reach areas like the inner eye and around the mouth and nostrils. Apply slight pressure for good coverage.

4. For light coverage, hold the brush at a 45-degree angle; blend outward with light, long strokes toward the edges of your face.

WHAT GOOD ARE THESE TINY SPONGES?

Most makeup artists think these tiny, rigid applicators are cute but useless. But Grace Lee, lead makeup artist for Maybelline New York Canada, loves them. "They're great for applying really concentrated points of colour, like highlighting the inner corners of the eyes," she says.

STYLE PHILOSOPHY

COZY AND STATEMENT-MAKING HOLIDAY SWEATERS

BY CARRIE KIRKMAN

One of my favourite things about the holidays is the opportunity to cocoon myself in layers of knitwear. Thankfully, there is no shortage of options when it comes to sweaters this season: Whether bold or whimsical, chunky or fine-knit, knitwear was featured prominently on the runways for Fall/Winter 2013, providing plenty of choices.

While you can always treat yourself during the holidays, sweaters also make the perfect gift for anybody on your list, whether you decide on something understated or a piece that makes a strong fashion statement.

Cozy sweaters are about staying warm, of course, but they also exude warmth in a less literal way. These knits are perfect for lounging and relaxing in, for wearing at the cottage or the ski-chalet, or just curled up by the fireplace watching a movie or reading a book.

Iones New York Signature Buffalo Check Jacket, $139. Half-Zip Mock Turtle Neck Pullover, $79. Zip Front Cardigan with pockets, $99. Drop Shoulder Striped Pullover, $99. Raglan Boat Neck with snaps, $79. Raglan Novelty Stitch Pullover with placket details, $99.

While informal in structure, relaxed sweaters can be elevated with modern details, like graphic patterns and colour blocking, textures like cabling or waffling, and embellishments like faux leather, zips and buttons. We've also seen the sport trend trickle into this category of knitwear this season. But these sweaters aren't only perfect for hibernating indoors: Try a voluminous shape with a pencil skirt or a legging. Slim-fitting sweaters look great paired with softer, fuller bottoms. It's all about playing with proportion.

There's always license to bring out the sparkle over the holidays and knitwear is the perfect vehicle for a little bit of shimmer.

Statement sweaters are a huge trend this season and with so much choice, you can find a style to suit every personality on your gift list. Bold graphics, feminine lace, sequin embroidery and velvet are details that can make a standard sweater standout.

If you're shopping for someone whose style is more classic, look for subtle, delicate embellishments. A cream Jones New York Collection sweater provides holiday shine in a more subdued way. Alternatively, for someone who isn't afraid to be bold or playful, our sequined Anne Klein sweater is a great choice—and in this season's striking cobalt shade. Polka dots or other graphic patterns look as good with a dress pant as they do paired with your favourite jeans. Don't be afraid to inject some excitement into your winter wardrobe. Of course, sweaters are a pragmatic choice this time of year. As temperatures drop, nothing keeps us warmer than a great knit. But they also offer an opportunity to explore different textures and create a new kind of silhouette. Just because their structure is relaxed, don't think that knitwear can't be dressed up for the holiday season. Play with texture and colour, pattern and embellishment—the humble sweater has come a long way.

Simple lines and clean shapes— Elisha Marie knows the way to our hearts is through quality, minimalist pieces like this ring. The Austin, Texas, artist carves, casts, saws, forges and polishes every piece in her collection. She believes it takes courage to do what you love and make a career out of it (we're so glad she has). This piece is also available in sterling silver.
